

Making a difference

Leonard
Cheshire

We believe in a fair and inclusive world, where everyone can live as they choose.

Impact for individuals

Our aims

- Disabled people feel respected, valued and safe, choose where and how they live, and participate freely in social and leisure activities.
- People achieve improved learning outcomes, their aspirations for work, and financial control.
- People can optimise their health and wellbeing.

Our actions

- We support disabled people to claim their rights, access quality learning and work, and live as they choose.
- We work with families and communities to be inclusive.
- We address additional barriers faced by girls and women.

Impact on organisations and the public

Our aims

- The public adopts inclusive behaviours towards people with disabilities.
- Communities are fully accessible – including homes, public spaces and transport.
- Education providers and employers enable full participation.
- Technology, products and services are designed to be inclusive.

Our actions

- We champion rights, promote inclusive behaviours and challenge discrimination.
- We campaign and use our influence to increase access to education, employment, transport and buildings.
- We work with organisations to foster inclusive practices.
- We promote inclusive innovation in technology, products and services.

Impact globally and nationally

Our aims

- Full implementation of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.
- Laws enable individuals to live, learn and work as they choose.
- Resources are allocated to ensure policies are delivered in practice.

Our actions

- We advocate for disability rights with, and build the capacity of, individuals and Disabled People's Organisations (DPOs).
- We conduct research and generate evidence to create persuasive insight.
- We influence decision-makers to drive change.
